

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A roll apparatus provided at a continuous caster for transferring a cast piece to a predetermined location includes: at least three divided rolls arranged to align concentrically and in an axial direction thereof to constitute a roll forming a cast piece transfer path. At least one end portion of at least one of the divided rolls is supported by a cylindrical roller bearing of a full roller type.